

Is Your Child Safe on the Internet?

Parents often admire how easily their children can use the Internet – but aren't quite sure of what they are doing or seeing.

National Parents Council Primary working with the National Centre for Technology in Education (NCTE) has developed a seminar to take the mystery out of the Internet for parents and to give them the skills to engage with their children's online lives.

The seminar will give a practical demonstration of the technologies and the websites young people are using. You will hear young people talking about how they use the Internet, why it is attractive to them, and get an insight into children's main concerns about being online. Parents will be introduced to strategies to help their children be responsible, effective and safer Internet users. If you are interested in holding a seminar for parents in your school please return this form to the address below. Seminars can be delivered as part of your Parent Association Annual General Meeting if desired.
