The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child is an international statement of the civil, political, economic, social and cultural rights of children. The UN General Assembly adopted the Convention and opened it for signature on 20 November 1989 (the 30th anniversary of the Declaration of the Rights of the Child).

The UN General Assembly adopted the Convention on the Rights of the Child in 1989. It is the most widely ratified human rights treaty in history.

The Articles of the CRC:

Article 1
Definition of a Child
Everyone under the age of 18 has all the rights in the Convention.

Article 2
Without Discrimination
The Convention applies to every child whatever their ethnicity, gender, religion, abilities, whatever they think or say, no matter what type of family they come from.

Article 3
Best Interests of the Child
The best interests of the child must be a top priority in all actions concerning children.

Article 4
Protection of Rights
Governments must do all they can to fulfil the rights of every child.

Article 5
Parental Guidance
Governments must respect the rights and responsibilities of parents to guide and advise their child so that, as they grow, they learn to apply their rights properly.

Article 6
Survival and Development
Every child has the right to life. Governments must do all they can to ensure that children survive and grow up healthy.

Article 7
Registration, Name, Nationality, Care
Every child has the right to a legally registered name and nationality, as well as the right to know and, as far as possible, to be cared for by their parents.

Article 8
Reservation of Identity
Governments must respect and protect a child’s identity and prevent their name, nationality or family relationships from being changed unlawfully. If a child has been illegally denied part of their identity, governments must act quickly to protect and assist the child to re-establish their identity.

Article 9
Separation from Parents
Children must not be separated from their parents unless it is in the best interests of the child (for example, in cases of abuse or neglect). A child must be given the chance to express their views when decisions about parental responsibilities are being made. Every child has the right to stay in contact with both parents, unless this might harm them.

Article 10
Family Reunification
Governments must respond quickly and sympathetically if a child or their parents apply to live together in the same country. If a child’s parents live apart in different countries, the child has the right to visit both of them.

Article 11
Kidnapping and Trafficking
Governments must take steps to prevent children being taken out of their own country illegally or being prevented from returning.

Article 12
Respect for the Views of the Child
Every child has the right to say what they think in all matters affecting them, and to have their views taken seriously.

Article 13
Freedom of Expression
Every child has the right to say what they think and to seek and receive information of any kind as long as it is within the law.

Article 14
Freedom of Thought, Belief and Religion
Every child has the right to think and believe what they want and also to practise their religion, as long as they are not stopping other people from enjoying their rights. Governments must respect the rights of parents to give their children guidance about this right.

Article 15
Freedom of Association
Every child has the right to meet with other children and young people and to join groups and organisations, as long as this does not stop other people from enjoying their rights.

Article 16
Right to Privacy
Every child has the right to privacy. The law should protect the child’s private, family and home life.

Article 17
ACCESS TO INFORMATION FROM MASS MEDIA
Every child has the right to reliable information from the mass media. Television, radio, newspapers and other media should provide information that children can understand. Governments must help protect children from materials that could harm them.

Article 18
PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITIES; STATE ASSISTANCE
Both parents share responsibility for bringing up their child and should always consider what is best for the child. Governments must help parents by providing services to support them, especially if the child’s parents work.

Article 19
PROTECTION FROM ALL FORMS OF VIOLENCE
Governments must do all they can to ensure that children are protected from all forms of violence, abuse, neglect and mistreatment by their parents or anyone else who looks after them.

Article 20
CHILDREN DEPRIVED OF A FAMILY
If a child cannot be looked after by their family, governments must make sure that they are looked after properly by people who respect the child’s religion, culture and language.

Article 21
ADOPTION
If a child is adopted, the first concern must be what is best for the child. The same protection and standards should apply whether the child is adopted in the country where they were born or in another country.

Article 22
REFUGEE CHILDREN
If a child is a refugee or seeking refuge, governments must ensure that they have the same rights as any other child. Governments must help in trying to reunite child refugees with their parents. Where this is not possible, the child should be given protection.

Article 23
DISABLED CHILDREN
A child with a disability has the right to live a full and decent life in conditions that promote dignity, independence and an active role in the community. Governments must do all they can to provide free care and assistance to disabled children.

Article 24
HEALTH AND HEALTH SERVICES
Every child has the right to the best possible health. Governments must provide good quality health care, clean water, nutritious food and a clean environment so that children can stay healthy. Richer countries must help poorer countries achieve this.

Article 25
REVIEW OF TREATMENT IN CARE
If a child has been placed away from home (in care, hospital or custody, for example), they have the right to a regular check of their treatment and conditions of care.

Article 26
SOCIAL SECURITY
Governments must provide extra money for the children of families in need.

Article 27
ADEQUATE STANDARD OF LIVING
Every child has the right to a standard of living that is good enough to meet their physical, social and mental needs.

Article 28
RIGHT TO EDUCATION
Every child has the right to an education. Primary education must be free. Secondary education must be available to every child. Discipline in schools must respect children’s human dignity. Wealthy countries must help poorer countries achieve this.

Article 29
GOALS OF EDUCATION
Education must develop every child’s personality, talents and abilities to the full. It must encourage the child’s respect for human rights, as well as respect for their parents, their own and other cultures, and the environment.

Article 30
CHILDREN OF MINORITIES
Every child has the right to learn and use the language, customs and religion of their family whether or not these are shared by the majority of the people in the country where they live.

Article 31
LEISURE, PLAY AND CULTURE
Every child has the right to relax, play and join in a wide range of cultural and artistic activities.

Article 32
CHILD LABOUR
Governments must protect children from work that is dangerous or might harm their health or education.

Article 33
DRUG ABUSE
Governments must protect children from the use of illegal drugs.
Article 34
Sexual Exploitation
Governments must protect children from sexual abuse and exploitation.

Article 35
Abduction
Governments must ensure that children are not abducted or sold.

Article 36
Other Forms of Exploitation
Governments must protect children from all other forms of exploitation that might harm them.

Article 37
Detention
No child shall be tortured or suffer other cruel treatment or punishment. A child shall only ever be arrested or put in prison as a last resort and for the shortest possible time. Children must not be put in a prison with adults and they must be able to keep in contact with their family.

Article 38
War and Armed Conflicts
Governments must do everything they can to protect and care for children affected by war. Governments must not allow children under the age of 15 to take part in war or join the armed forces.

Article 39
Rehabilitation of Child Victims
Children neglected, abused, exploited, tortured or who are victims of war must receive special help to help them recover their health, dignity and self-respect.

Article 40
Juvenile Justice
A child accused or guilty of breaking the law must be treated with dignity and respect. They have the right to help from a lawyer and a fair trial that takes account of their age or situation. The child’s privacy must be respected at all times.

Article 41
Respect for Better National Standards
If the laws of a particular country protect children better than the articles of the Convention, then those laws must stay.

Article 42
Knowledge of Rights
Governments must make the Convention known to children and adults. The Convention has 54 articles in total. Articles 43–54 are about how adults and governments must work together to make sure all children get all their rights, including:

Article 45
UNICEF can provide expert advice and assistance on children’s rights.

Optional Protocols
In 2000, the UN General Assembly adopted two optional additions to strengthen the Convention. One protocol required governments to increase the minimum age for recruitment into the armed forces from 15 years and to ensure that members of their armed forces under the age of 18 do not take a direct part in armed conflict. The other protocol provides detailed requirements for governments to end the sexual exploitation and abuse of children. It also protects children from being sold for non-sexual purposes — such as other forms of forced labour, illegal adoption and organ donation.
